CFC CONTAINERS

Country Fried Chicken & Pizza Fully Self Contained Transportable Fast Food Outlets

CFC Containers are a self contained Country Fried Chicken kitchen and server purpose designed for operating as a stand-alone retail fast food outlet, or as a dedicated commercial & industrial company's own facility in remote areas such as mining camps. The containers are transportable, include cold room and air-conditioning, automated kitchen and a servery and only require hook-up to power, water and waste disposal.

The containers can be built and equipped to individual order requirements and with smaller - than the 40 foot containers - available; a CFC Container system can be enlarged by placing more than one container side by side or atop another.

Importantly the containers provide maximum security in that they are sealable and therefore impenetrable to break-in, theft or wilful damage.

Designs can incorporate additional self-containing systems e.g. air to water / reverse osmosis units for potable water supply and solar panels and or generators for power sources.

The CFC Container system is the perfect answer for regional areas and the far outback as they can be placed alongside service stations, relocated as needed to areas for major events, indigenous communities and mining townships and remote sites including island communities.

CFC CONTAINERS

Country Fried Chicken & Pizza, Fully Self Contained Transportable Fast Food Outlets.

- A mobile fast-food outlet – A fully fitted out, self contained shipping container that can be transported by rail, road and sea to anywhere in the country – anywhere in the world.
- The CFC fast food system is the famous Country Fried Chicken products menu that is “healthier than most and tastier than all”.
